COMPANIONS START RESCUE

Recover Body After 45 Minutes of Hard Labor But Life is Extinct—Widow of Laborer is Prostrated With Grief—Are Investigating the Responsibility.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Fifteen Italians were working in an excavation yesterday afternoon at the corner of Fourteenth avenue and Seventy-ninth street when the 5 o'clock whistle blew to quit work.

All made a scramble in getting out of the big ditch, the top edges of which were lined with heavy beams.

Dominik Sacco, 25 years old, of Fifty-fourth street and Fourteenth avenue was the last man to get out of the cut. As he reached the top there was a rumbling noise followed by a roar as lumber and earth tumbled into the excavation. A shriek for help was the last sound heard from Sacco as he fell with the loose earth and heavy beams into the ten-foot trench.

The fourteen men who reached safety got shovels and picks and worked like madmen to get at their buried companion. They were reinforced by other laborers on their way home and the timber and dirt flew out of the excavation at a lively rate.

After forty-five minutes of digging the body of Sacco was reached. It was taken to the ambulance, where Dr. Stillman, of the Norwegian Hospital, was waiting. It only took the surgeon a moment to see that the man was beyond all earthly aid. The head was crushed to a pulp and almost every bone in the body was broken.

The bruised form was taken to the Bath Beach station house and the Coroner notified. The news was broken to the widow of the laborer and an affecting scene was witnessed when the poor woman viewed the mangled body.

The excavation where the Italian met his untimely end is being dug for a sewer, which is being constructed by P. J. McAuley.

The police are trying to find out who is responsible for Sacco's death.

An Insidious Danger

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's Disease and diabetes. T. F. Laurin, Owl Drug Store.

FIRE DESTROYING SETTLEMENT

TILTON, N. H., Sept. 13.—The Shaker settlement, which was established here more than 100 years ago, is being swept by fire which broke out this morning. Aid has been summoned from neighboring towns. There is little hope of saving any of the forty wooden buildings which stand on each side of the narrow street.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." T. F. Laurin, Owl Drug Store.
